1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the principles of the theory of the function of the mind. It is shown that the mind is a complex system of organs, each of which performs a specific function. The functions of the mind are divided into three classes: the functions of the intellect, the functions of the emotions, and the functions of the will. The intellect is the faculty by which we perceive and understand the world around us. The emotions are the feelings which we experience in response to the objects of our perception. The will is the power by which we direct our actions towards the objects of our desire.
